Canada's new astronaut has strong ties to Elk Point and area

VICKI BROOKER

One of Canada's two new astronauts has strong links to Elk Point and surrounding area, a fact that was very evident when Canadian Air Force Lt. Col. Joshua Kutryk returned to the town where he spent part of his childhood for a meet-and-greet last Wednesday.

After Kutryk spoke about his life after leaving Lee Wruth's Grade 3 class in 1992, and all the adventures he has been part of since that time, no less than 20 members of his extended family joined him on the Seniors' Recreation Centre stage for a commemorative photo. Most of the relatives then joined a line-up that also included everyone from his former minor ball coach to parents and grandparents of his long-ago schoolmates to people who served on the 1992 Bicentennial Committee with his late father, RCMP Sgt. Barry Kutryk. That line-up stretched the length of the hall as everyone waited patiently to get autographs and photos, and none were disappointed, as he signed every poster and scrap of paper, shook every hand and posed for every last phone and camera.

Introduced as "Canada's newest astronaut," Kutryk quipped that, "Way before that, I was here. In 1991 and '92, my dad was the RCMP sergeant and we lived on Circle Drive. Even then, I always dreamed about space." Following the Elk Point posting, his father was transferred to Whitehorse, "and then my dad retired and we moved back to the family homestead at Beauvallon. Here I am chasing cows when I was in Grade 11," Kutryk said, pointing to a photo of a teen on horseback, following a herd down a dusty road that was part of a video chronicling his adventures.

When Kutyk finished high school, he considered going on to university, but decided “it took so long to get to Grade 12 that four years of university seemed like an eternity.” Having learned to fly at age 16, he decided to pursue that interest and joined the army, patrolling Canada’s north from the air and spending four to five years as a front line fighter pilot, with tours in Afghanistan, Libya and other areas of unrest.

Weather a role in decreased bench show entries

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

A stormy summer and vacations are among the factors that added up to major drops in entries in three sections at the Elk Point Agricultural Society's annual Horticulture, Craft and Quilt Show.

Although overall entries dropped a mere 3.3 per cent, from 856 last year to 828 this year, the Vegetables section plummeted 54 per cent, from 94 to 51 entries, Canning down 25 per cent from 54 to 41 entries and Flowers down 20 per cent from 49 to 40 entries. Surprisingly, the weather factor didn't harm the Fresh Fruit, which increased slightly from 32 to 34 entries.

Another big drop was noted in the Junior Fair, where entries decreased 32 per cent, from 130 to 98, a figure that is less than half the all time high of 200 entries in 2013, with last week's pleasant weather more conducive to enjoying the outdoors and going camping rather than filling out fair tags.

Photography appeared to benefit from both vacations, with many shots of holiday fun, and weather, with stormy skies drawing the photographers' attention, that section increasing by a whopping 63 per cent over last year's 72 entries to 118, a figure still well below the all time high of 170 reached in 2015.

The two other increases were in sections not generally affected by weather, House Plants jumping 30 per cent from 27 to 35 entries and Arts and Crafts up 15 per cent from 124 to 143. Small increases were also noted in Baking, Creative Writing, Sewing and Yard Art, while there were significant drops of 20 per cent and 18 per cent in the Quilting and Seniors sections and a small decrease in Knitting and Crocheting.

The area's quilters may have been concentrating on the Canada 150 and Quilt Show instead of adding to their collection of prize ribbons, because both of those areas were well filled, as were two tables loaded with the imaginative artistry of "the Bag Ladies," who outdid themselves with their creations in that latest sewing trend.

The Art Show coordinated by Shirley Kinneberg featured two new artists, Marilyn Brockhoff of Bonnyville, who displayed an array of 14 paintings ranging from still life to scenery to abstract in various media, and Sandra Miller of Vermilion. Local artists Kathy Gusnowski, who also exhibited photography, and Rhonda Stuparyk, rounded out the show, along with an array of Kinneberg's own work, which included a great Canada 150 depiction of a steam train, voyageur canoe and a covered wagon traveling through the mountains.

A Vendors' Market offered wooden signs, yard art, bags, jewellery, essential oils and Watkins products, while outside the arena, the Elk Point and District Lions had their barbecue fired up to offer lunch, and a bounce castle offered free-of-charge fun for the youngsters.

The day of browsing and viewing all came down to the awards presentation at 4 p.m., where show chair Donna Bassett thanked all the contributors and congratulated each and every entrant for taking part in the show, before she presented section and aggregate awards.

Delores Mohyluk made numerous trips to the podium, accepting a gift certificate from Empress Family Restaurant in the Canning section, lanterns from RONA in the Flowers section and a gift basket from Knotty Boyz in the Fresh Fruits on her own behalf, plus the Arts, Crafts and Hobbies cash award from Elk Point Insurance on behalf of her daughter, Marianne Pierson. Pierson also was the recipient of the Violet E. McFadyen Memorial Fair Award of a basket of violets, sponsored by the McFadyen family in memory of their mother and this year going to the person with the most overall entries, and the Grand Aggregate award from the Elk Point Agricultural Society and UFA, all accepted by Mohyluk.

Rosemarie Rohner was also a multiple winner, accepting the House Plants prize of a gift bag from Moe's

Greenhouse, the Quilting award of cash from Yvonne's Gone Quilting, and the Sewing award of cash from Hahn Welding, these three wins adding up to second place in the Aggregate and a cash prize from the Ag Society.

Third place in the Aggregate, along with cash Section awards for Knitting and Crochet, sponsored by B & R Eckel's, and the Senior section, sponsored by Hahn Welding, went to Lillian Balazs of Cold Lake.

Other section winners included Margaret Bayduzaa, with a gift certificate from Cornerstone Co-op in the Baking, Jennifer Van der Hoek, Joey Cardinal and Timmy Cardinal with journals from the Elk Point Review in Creative Writing, Mackenzie Flanders with a cash prize from Shamrock Valley Enterprises in the Junior Fair, Mike Van der Hoek with a gift certificate from Home Town Grocers in Photography, Don Brooker with a cash prize from E-Can in the Vegetables section and Lee Wruth with a cash prize from JPD Enterprises in Yard Art.

New highway guardrails cause concerns

JANICE HUSER
Review Contributor

Following the completion of work along Highway 646, east of Elk Point, concerns regarding newly installed wire guardrails have surfaced.

County of St. Paul Coun. Glen Ockerman brought up the issue during last week's council meeting on Aug. 8, noting that he felt the guardrails were a safety hazard, and restricted larger vehicles from travelling down the highway safely.

Ockerman said he has personally talked to provincial representatives on the matter, and was told that the guardrails were "recommended" and not required.

"It's our wives, our children driving on the highway," said Ockerman, noting that if anyone is concerned about the safety on the highway, it's local residents.

He noted that if a grader had its blade down, and met up with a gravel truck along one of the stretches, he wasn't sure if the two vehicles would be able to pass through due to the narrowness.

The area councillor added that the wire guardrails have been installed in a number of sections on the highway, and some spots he felt were very questionable.

"It's dangerous," he stated, simply.

Ockerman requested a letter be sent to the province to request the guardrails be removed. "I want to send (the letter) to someone who cares," he added.

A motion to send the letter was carried.

Garbage Bins

Letters have been sent out to some residents about the proper use of garbage bins in the County of St. Paul, heard council during last week's council meeting.

"The letter indicates that if they are abused, they could be removed from the area," said CAO Sheila Kitz in her CAO report. "It's very important that people treat them properly," she added.

Letters were sent to residents in the Garner Lake area, and Lac Santé, but Coun. Frank Sloan noted that he had recently noticed misuse at the Boscombe bins.

"I was really disappointed when I saw that," said Sloan, adding, there was furniture left outside the bins, which isn't allowed.

Further education on the matter will be relayed to county residents, when needed.

Laurier Lake levels

Kitz reported that a beaver device had been installed at Borden Lake near Highway 646 to lower water and reduce issues on county infrastructure in the area.

"No lowering of Laurier Lake is evident due to this device," reported Kitz.

Ockerman noted that the installation of the device was a success in his opinion, since there was never any intention of lowering the lake level at Laurier Lake, but rather lower water at Borden Lake, where a county road had been impacted.

"I think most people at Laurier Lake are happy that the lake is high," said Kitz.

Support for Elk Point projects

Work on a couple of large projects are moving forward with the support of County of St. Paul council.

The Elk Point Ag Society requested a commitment of 25 per cent of its $261,943 project, which would see an addition at the organization's riding arena. The group has applied to CFEP Funding.

The funds would come from the 2018 budget, said Kitz during the Aug. 8 council meeting, and would total $65,485. Kitz also noted that the county has been encouraging groups to apply for more grants, with the understanding that the county would likely support the projects.

Coun. Laurent Amyotte noted that the county and Town of Elk Point may soon need a recreation agreement, like the Town of St. Paul has with the county.

Ockerman noted that he wanted to be sure that funds for capital projects remain separate from funds for operational costs, which are already in the budget.

"I don't want to confuse the two," he said.

Council approved a motion to support the project from the 2018 budget, subject to the approval of the CFEP grant.

Elk Point airport

The Elk Point Airport Commission is looking for written support from the County of St. Paul and Town of Elk Point in its bid to apply for a 2018 STIP Grant for upgrades to the airport.

While the project had been estimated to cost about $1 million, the new estimate on the upgrades is down to just under $800,000, heard council. Council agreed to support the project in written, but did not make any financial commitment.

Clubroot

The County of St. Paul had to deal with a clubroot issue where a landowner did not comply with a pest notice under the Pest Act. A court order was obtained to allow the county to destroy the affected crop, reported Kitz.

Following an in camera session Tuesday morning, a motion to invoice landowner where canola was planted on quarters that have clubroot for a total of $7,400, as per the court order, was carried.

A recorded vote was requested, with Councillors Cliff Martin, Maxine Fodness, Frank Sloan, Laurent Amyotte, and Steve Upham voting in favour. Councillors Glen Ockerman and Dwight Dach voted against the motion.

County staff members continue to inspect canola fields for clubroot.

Noxious Weeds

Staff members are also working to mow and pick noxious weeds in the Ashmont area, since spraying of the weeds is limited in the hamlet.

"We will be looking to provide communication to (Ashmont) hamlet residents regarding the offending weeds, hoping to enlist their help to eliminate them," said Kitz in her report.

Parks

The county run campgrounds were full over the August long weekend, heard council.

Work to put in a new playground at Stoney Lake moved forward, with the playground being ordered recently. It will be installed after the camping season wraps up.

A new playground was also set to be installed at the Floating Stone campground, last week.

The county is waiting for approval on the design of the Lac Bellevue boat launch, with work expected to start once camping season wraps up.

Fires on beaches

Kitz also brought up the issue of people camping on beaches, and having fires on the beach area. The county has purchased signs to install at Lac Bellevue and Vincent Lake that will indicate that there is no camping allowed on the beach, and no fires on the beach area.

Aggregate

Following an in camera session on Tuesday morning, council gave first and second readings to a bylaw to rescind the Aggregate Levy Bylaw. Council was unable to give third reading since it was not carried unanimously to do so.

The matter will be put back on the September council agenda. Coun. Laurent Amyotte and Coun. Maxine Fodness opposed rescinding the bylaw.

Summer Games

The Town of St. Paul has approached its neighboring municipalities of Cold Lake, Bonnyville, Elk Point, Glendon and the County of St. Paul, to see if there is any interest in co-hosting the 2020 Alberta Summer Games.

The matter came before county council last week. It was noted that the host communities would need facilities suitable for staging about 20 sporting competitions, and be capable of feeding and accommodating about 2,800 athletes, coaches, and officials over a four to six day period.

The typical cost of hosting the Alberta Summer Games has been about $1.6 million. Host communities receive consultative assistance, and financial support from Alberta Sport Connection.

Administration recommended council deny supporting the idea, which council supported, passing a motion to deny the request from the Town of St. Paul.

Methane regulations

A letter was sent to the federal government regarding a proposed change in regulations around methane emissions. Reeve Steve Upham and Kitz met with CNRL to discuss the matter, since they are also concerned about the new regulations.

"Their message was that they are in favour of the proposed 45 per cent reduction, however the new regulations far exceed 45 per cent reduction, and if implemented could result in shutting in of wells and reduce drilling plans for the area, as heavy oil extraction would be significantly affected by the change in regulation," said Kitz, during her report to council.

She added that the regulations could impact drilling by 30 per cent.

Disaster recovery

The County of St. Paul's Disaster Recovery Application in regards to increased work that will have to be done to roads due to a wet fall, and wet spring, was sent in on July 24.

Kitz noted that CBC is working on a story on the issue, and contacted the county. She hoped that having more media coverage on the topic could help the matter get some traction.

Road construction

Director of Public Works Mark Chileen spoke with council at length about the order in which the 2017 road construction projects will take place. While everyone agreed on the first two items, which were listed in the order of completion, with the N&K Road being first, and Millar Road being second, it was recommended that the Owlseye and Berlinguette Road project move ahead of the Camp Lake project, due to factors that are controlled by Mother Nature.

Chileen also recommended the county tender out the Lafond Road project, instead of the Dargis Road. Garner Road is sixth on the list of projects, switch the Dargis Road and Elk Point Ag Society riding arena drainage and approach project sitting at number seven. "The Lafond Road is a bigger job," explained Chileen.

Council rescinded a previous motion to tender out work on Dargis Road, and instead tender out work on Lafond Road.

EDITORIAL

Welcome back, golfers!

Thirty four years for the Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament - WOW! It's truly mind-boggling to realize that this landmark event has been taking place every year since 1984.

Things were so much different then.... the golf course was somewhat rustic, with sand greens and no clubhouse, just tents. where all the prizes were on display. The team that organized the tournament was brand new at the job, but they did an outstanding job that had the golfers coming back year after year. The men who organized that long ago tournament set the banner high as they hosted 72 golfers for the two day event, and their successors have kept up the standards every year since, even in times when the bottom fell out of the oil prices and layoffs and shut-in wells were all around us. Sponsors, too, stood by the organization and continued to contribute - not as much in the lean years, true enough, but they contributed what they could to help keep the event going and growing.

Even weather, including the four inches of rain in 1988 that had golfers switching out their spikes for rubber boots, in some cases, and trucks put in four-wheel-drive to get to the golf course, didn't bother this hardy crew of sportsmen, who probably would have still been out there if it had snowed, instead.

Welcome back, guys! Have a wonderful weekend and we'll see you at the awards banquet!

RECREATION CORNER

Fair's over,now for the Oilmen's!

The summer seems to be going by so quickly! Just this past Sunday was the annual Quilt Show & Horticultural Fair at the arena. There were so many lovely handmade items on display and great local vendors out for the day. I hope you had the opportunity to enjoy it. I wanted to thank all the volunteers that go above and beyond to put on the show each year. Particularly, my mom, Donna Bassett. She would never brag or really want the attention, but she spearheads the fair each year and has been doing a wonderful job. Bravo again this year! A very well done show.

This Saturday is the annual Oilmen's Golf Tournament and the Rec Department has sponsored a safe ride home for the golfers. Have fun boys! But please be responsible. The courtesy van is available during the tournament so please make good use of it!

The next big day on the calendars is the Community Registration night, which is September 5th at the Allied Arts. Most of the town's community groups and sports clubs are on hand to register participants or to answer any questions the public may have. The rec department will be there as well if you have any questions or suggestions. I wanted to stress that we are always open to suggestions for recreational activities, outings, and programs. So please, stop by and let's chat!

If you're unable to make it, email me recreation@elkpoint.ca.

P.S.: What does everyone think of the new banners on the walking trail? Wouldn't it be great to have those throughout town... well, we just might! More details to come!

WAY BACK WHEN...

One million bushels, 67 quilts, 1.4 million accident-free hours

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND THE ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF AUG. 14 IN...

1987
Local farmer Steve Sribney delivered the one-millionth bushel of the 1987-88 crop year to Elk Point's Alberta Wheat Pool elevator on July 15, well ahead of the July 31 deadline, and was presented with an engraved plaque and a framed replica of his cash ticket in celebration of the milestone, this being the first time a million bushels had been delivered to Elk Point Pool in a single crop year. Elk Point's water meters were going metric, with 290 new meters to be installed and another 280 existing meters to be converted from imperial measure to metric.

1992
Art Britton won the Ninth Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf grand challenge, where 120 golfers competed in 15 flights. Town council reconvened after a five-week summer break and expressed concern regarding the closure of Imperial Lumber in mid-July, feeling this could have both short- and long-term effects on the community's economy.

1997
Concerns about road safety were heightened when an oilfield cement truck rolled on the hill leading northeast from Lindbergh just hours before a public meeting to discuss the use of produced oilfield sand in roadbed construction, with the Alberta Energy and Utilities Board stating a belief that its use was not dangerous to the environment. The Elk Point Agricultural Society Bench Fair was moving to a new location, the A. G. Ross Arena, after a number of years in the Elks Hall.

2002
Elk Point Fair was great despite the drought, and was highlighted by an outstanding display of 67 quilts, including a Flying Geese design that was 160 years old, created by Martha Greenfield, great-aunt of Violet McFadyen, and several from the 1920s and 1930s. Billie Milholland was a special guest at the fair, autographing numerous copies of her best-selling North Saskatchewan River Guide.

2007
A craft-loving community showed off its creations at the Horticulture and Craft Show, with the Grand Aggregate award going to Cold Lake's Lillian Balazs, while Donna Bassett and Janice Blacklock winning the people's choice awards for the quilt show. Elk Point Municipal Library was touched by magic as children's entertainer Brian Lehr pulled a rascally rabbit out of his hat and thrilled the summer readers with his other tricks.

2012
It was all fun, games and safety at Canadian Salt's Lindbergh Works as management and staff took part in the annual Safety Day, and with a record of 1.4 million hours without a lost-time accident, plant manager Roman Pietrus said, "We have something to celebrate."

TRAIL DAY - More than 50 riders, wagon teamsters, ATV enthusiasts and runners took part in Heinsburg's Second Annual Cancer Fundraiser Trail Day, described as "an awesome ride" and "A perfect, perfect day" by participants.

Astronaut

But then, he said, "my academic interests pulled me, I went back to school and became an experimental pilot. I fly F-18s, I flew one today and I'll probably fly it tomorrow for the last time," before heading off to the Johnson Space Centre in Houston, Texas with Canada's other new astronaut, Jennifer Sidey, a Ph.D mechanical engineer. The two were chosen from a field of 3,772 candidates and 17 finalists who entered the Canada Space Agency call last summer, with their appointment announced this year on Canada Day.

Up until now, Kutryk said, "most of my life has been F-18s and studying. I've spent more years in school (since Grade 12) than I had up to then, and I have four university degrees. It's been stuff I was interested in, four years in mechanical engineering seemed like fun. In space studies, I learned that Canada has been big in space since the 1950s, when the USSR was first, the US was second and Canada was third, and they still are. Canada built parts for the space station, including the Canadarm, and it's been my lifelong goal to be the guy on the end of that arm. I'm still pretty far away." Two years of basic training and two more years of more intense training are ahead of him, "but I'm a lot closer than I was." He and Sidey are 13th and 14th in line to visit the space station.

Kutryk had also been part of the astronaut recruitment process in 2008, and made it to the final four before "being cut at the very, very end. When this recruitment came out, I knew I had to give it my best shot. This is the icing on the cake, serving Canada."

"Why did I have this dream? It's my interests, first and foremost. I'm passionate about aerospace. You have to identify, early in life, what you want to do, and then it's not work, it's fun. I've always wanted to go higher, to learn more. I've always been fascinated by the Northern Lights and it's never enough to look at them, I want to know what causes them. I've always wanted to serve Canada. Dad was an RCMP, and at age six, I saw the Canadarm with a big Canadian flag on it. The job of an astronaut is all about service.

"I've always wanted to explore, and that's the biggest thing. Space is the next frontier, the ocean our generation is trying to cross. I've climbed mountains all over the world, because I love to explore. It's neat to think that Mars looks like parts of earth and the really exciting part is that it's the time for humans to put a foot on this planet."

Kutryk said that in the near future, "There will be people on the moon again. Back in 1969 when they were there, earth looked pretty small and insignificant. Now satellites are discovering new planets and solar systems. I get excited, and I'm really excited about qualifying as one of Canada's new astronauts."

Kutryk spent the rest of the evening catching up, chatting with his former teacher and other local connections, before answering a number of questions from the near-capacity crowd. The evening's MC, recreation director Jena Colbourne, said that when she told her dad, Doug Bassett, that she had interviewed Kutryk two weeks ago, "He said, 'I taught him to play ball, he played with your brother.'" Kutryk had signed a baseball for him way back then, before leaving Elk Point, and Bassett brought it along to show him, along with another new ball to autograph for his collection.

LOOKING BACK - Orest Sereda, Ruth Purdy and Myrna Fedorus check out the display of pictures from Joshua Kutryk's days in Elk Point in the early 1990s, and from more recent years as he and his brother pursued careers in the Canadian Forces.

Elk Point Oilmen's Association
34 year hosts of this annual event!

Elk Point Oilmen's Assn. President's message

Well, it has come to that time of year again and the 34th Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament is here. On behalf of the EPOA, I would like to welcome all attending and involved in this year's event.

With the slow recovery in the oil patch, I would like to dedicate this year's tournament to the companies that help to make this event possible with their donations, small and large. We would not be able to have events like this without the support from the community. A huge thank you from all of us on the EPOA!

I would also like to thank the Town of Elk Point that lets us continue to use the Golf Course for an event like this, and to the golf course staff for all they must put up with and the long days and nights that are, I'm sure, sometimes entertaining.

Now on to the golfers that will be participating in this year's event.

Welcome to our 34th Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament. It is good to see so many returning golfers again this year and we are happy to see many new entries joining in on the golf. This event is all about having a fun, enjoyable weekend that will take away the stress of the day-to-day grind. We hope everyone involved has an enjoyable time and stays safe.

Now, on to my EPOA golf committee: it has been a lot of work for us again this year and it has only just begun. So thank you and your families for the time it takes to put on something like this.

In closing, I wish the best to all the golfers and non-golfers. I hope you can create new friendships and lasting memories. Thank you again for your time, and I hope you enjoy your weekend and that we will see you again next year. Please enjoy our shuttle service and please don't drink and drive.

COUNTY OF ST. PAUL No 19

HIGHLIGHTS

August 8, 2017 Council Meeting

Municipal Census – The 2017 Municipal Census has been completed showing a 4.9% increase in population from the 2012 census. 24.43% of the population is under 18; 56.82% is between 18-64; and 18.75% is over 65. The official result of 6468 will be submitted to Municipal Affairs. This number will be used by the Provincial and Federal Governments to calculate grant funding. The County would like to thank everyone for returning their census forms and co-operating with the enumerators when they went door to door.

Clubroot/Noxious Weeds – the Ag Department will be inspecting all canola fields within the County of St. Paul for clubroot, as per the Provincial Pest Act. Staff will contact landowners if they find clubroot in their fields and they will work together to control the spread of the pest. The Ag Department will also be inspecting areas for noxious weeds as per the Provincial Weed Act. It is our responsibility to find weeds and pests and control them before they become established in our County.

Borden Lake – A beaver gizmo was installed to release water from Borden Lake as it was affecting County infrastructure. The gizmo is working as it should and the road is no longer under water.

Moosehills Road – The road remains closed as it continues to be unstable and the surface is shifting. Public Works Staff continue to monitor it and are working with AMEC to put together remediation options. The County will be applying for a Federal Transportation Grant and we will also be looking at a Strategic Transportation Infrastructure Program Grant in 2018. Public Works has also contacted industry in the area to assist with fixing the road.

Strategic Plan – Council approved the 2nd quarter of the 2017 Strategic Plan. The updated plan can be viewed on the County website.

Planning and Development – The County will be entering into an Encroachment Agreement with the owner of Lot 15, Block 5, Plan 4223MC to accommodate their boathouse which was built in 1975 and is encroaching on Lot 05R, Plan 4223MC.

Road Construction Priorities – Despite the extremely wet conditions during this construction season, Public Works continues to work on approved road construction projects. Council agreed to tender out one mile of road construction on the Lafond Road S of 29-56-11-W4.

FCSS Movie in the Park – The movie night that was scheduled to take place at the Boscombe Community Hall on July 21st was cancelled on short notice given that movies are licensed based on a legal land description and therefore cannot be moved to a different location. FCSS could not approve of the proposed location change without legal implications, as previously discussed.

Funding Support:

- $500 – Mosquito Baseball to attend provincials
- $1,000 – Midget AA Baseball Team to host provincials

No decrease in County of St. Paul population

JANICE HUSER
Review Contributor

Following what appeared to be a decrease in population according to number collected during the federal census, the County of St. Paul decided to conduct its own municipal census, with results being presented at last Tuesday's regular monthly council meeting.

As predicted, the County of St. Paul's population did not decrease.

The 2016 federal census had pegged the number of residents in the municipality at 6,036, down by 132 residents when compared to the county's 2012 municipal census.

The recently completed municipal census put that number at 6,468, an increase of 4.9 per cent when compared to the 2012 census.

According to census numbers, just over 24 per cent of the county's population is under the age of 18, while 56.82 per cent is over 18 years of age but under 65. The remaining 18.75 per cent of the population is over 65 years.

A breakdown was also given to council, showing the population in each division. Division 1 shows a population of 666; while Division 2 shows a population of 773 people. Division 3 sits at 1,358; and Division 4 is at 1,312. Division 5 has 1,298 people, and Division 6 has 1,061 residents.

Division 1 has the highest percentage of people over 65 years of age, with 25 per cent of residents being over that mark. That division also has the lowest number of residents under the age of 18, with just 17 per cent of the population being in that category.

The division with the highest percentage of people under 18 is Division 3, with over 26 per cent of its population being on the younger spectrum.

Council had decided to move ahead with completing its own census because a decrease in population would have resulted in fewer grant funds coming into the area.

The decrease in population could have resulted in a loss of $20,000 to $26,000 a year in government grants, since many are based on population, said CAO Sheila Kitz, during a council meeting held in early 2017. Over a five-year census period, that could result in excess of $100,000 in lost funding.

The new census numbers will now be sent into Municipal Affairs.

County of St. Paul staff completed the municipal census in-house, as a way to help keep costs at a minimum.

"I would like to thank Linda Megeer, her enumerators and our summer staff for their dedicated work on this project," said Kitz, when speaking about the census.

FISHING LAKE METIS SETTLEMENT HOSTS ITS 3RD ANNUAL CRITICAL ILLNESS SUPPORT FUND COMMITTEE GOLF TOURNAMENT

Friday, July 28th marked the 3rd Annual Golf Tournament for Fishing Lake Metis Settlements Critical Illness Support Fund. The attendance was very good with 15 teams registered. Fishing Lake Metis Settlement Administration, The Critical Illness Support Fund Committee, Community members and volunteers are very grateful to all sponsors and all organizations who contributed to the success of this fundraiser. This year $2,407.20 was raised and as with past fundraisers, all funds will go directly into the Critical Illness Support Fund.

In 2014, Fishing Lake's local Council saw a need to support resident members in Fishing Lake who were diagnosed with a critical illnesses such as cancer, heart conditions and diabetes and other life threatening illnesses. Council felt that it was important to support the individual and their family by providing financial aid for fuel to attend appointments, food, hotels and parking so there wasn't such a huge financial burden on the individual/family. To date, 34 families have received help in the community of Fishing Lake and it is hoped that this fund is available for years to come for those that need it.

Fishing Lake Metis Settlement Council, Administration and all its entities would like to acknowledge and thank the following organizations for their participation and support. Without you, this day would not have been possible. Thank you so much!! We invite you all back next year. Our hope is that it will only be bigger and better with your support. Fishing Lake Metis Settlement is located approximately 3.5 hours north east of Edmonton, Alberta
